VIDEOTEXT INTERACTIVE HOMESCHOOL MATH

Teaching Mathematics as a Language - What Gets Lost in the Translation?

Friday 11:00 AM-12:00 PM

Room 153

Did you know that Mathematics has parts of speech and sentence structure, just as does any spoken language? Did you know that understanding the "grammar" of Mathematics greatly helps student understanding of problem-solving and applications? In this workshop, Tom Clark, founder of VideoText Interactive, and author of "Algebra: A Complete Course" and "Geometry: A Complete Course," clearly and humorously demonstrates this quality of mathematical language. At last, you will truly understand the roles of all types of mathematical symbols, and you will see how easy it is to translate between Mathematics and English, enabling you to improve your understanding, and teaching of "story problems" at all levels.

VIDEOTEXT INTERACTIVE HOMESCHOOL MATH

Can Mom or Dad Really "Teach" Story Problems?

Saturday 4:30-5:30 PM

Room 153

In this entertaining and instructional workshop with Tom Clark, founder of VideoText Interactive, and author of "Algebra: A complete Course" and "Geometry: A Complete Course," you will develop and learn how to use the five analysis questions that must be asked to solve all story problems, whether in simple arithmetic or in Algebra. The correct answers to these questions are guaranteed to lead students to the relation (equation or inequality) they must solve in order to find the answer to the problem.
